Introduction

It is our hope that this document provides helpful introduction to the CDA application process. The flexible nature of the CDA credential means that there are several ways to obtain the certification; this guide is meant to walk you through how to get either a Center-based Preschool CDA or the Home Visitor CDA.

Part 1: General Information

What is the Child Development Associate Credential (CDA)?

The Child Development Associate Credential (CDA) is a nationally recognized entry level credential in the field of Early Childhood Education. It is issued by the Council for Professional Recognition. The CDA is designed for those individuals who are working with young children in all settings. The purpose of this credential is to prepare individuals to meet the specific needs of children and work with parents and other adults to nurture children's physical, social, emotional and intellectual growth in a child development framework.

Why is the CDA useful?

Many employers in the early childhood education and care field require candidates without a degree in early education to hold a CDA certificate. If the candidate does not have a CDA, some employers require the candidate to earn one during the first few years of employment. The CDA Credential has many advantages; including providing documented continuing education for staff and providing a platform for professional and career opportunities for recipients. Many view the CDA Credential as an instrument for career advancement in the early childhood care and education profession. The Council for Professional Recognition works to ensure that the CDA is a credible and valid credential recognized by the profession as a vital part of a coordinated system of professional development.

Is there more than one type of CDA?

Yes, there is more than one type of CDA. Each CDA certificate is developed around a certain type of childcare provider, though it seems the most universally applicable certificate is that of the preschool CDA. Each certificate has slightly different requirements and costs, all of which are outlined on the CDA website or in the CDA competency standards. The four types of CDA are: Preschool, Infant/Toddler, Family Childcare and Home Visitor. The CDA can also be completed in English, Spanish or with a bilingual specialization.

What Are the General Requirements for a CDA?

- 1) The candidate must have a high school diploma or be a junior or senior in a high school career / technical program in early education.
- 2) The candidate must have 480 hours of experience working with young children. The nature of the work experience depends on the credential being pursued.
- 3) The candidate must have 120 clock hours of formal training.
- 4) Collect specific documentation that shows evidence of practice working with young children.

Part 2: Guide to the Preschool CDA

The Council for Professional Recognition has several guides and website pages dedicated to explaining the CDA requirements and application process. It is a good idea to refer to those frequently as they will reflect the most up-to-date information. You will also be required to buy the CDA Competency Standards book in order to complete the application. This book details all necessary components and timelines to receive the certification.

Step One: Prepare

The most time-consuming and difficult part of each CDA certificate is what the Council for Professional Recognition calls the “Prepare” stage. The “Prepare” stage has four distinct requirements: 120 hours of professional education, 480 hours of professional experience, Professional Portfolio and Family Questionnaires.

120 hours of Professional Education

Candidates must have complete 120 hours of formal child care education within the past five years, with a minimum of ten hours of content in each of the following eight content areas:

1. Plan a safe, healthy environment to invite learning
2. Steps to advance children’s physical and intellectual development
3. Positive ways to support children’s social and emotional development
4. Strategies to establish productive relationships with families
5. Strategies to manage an effective program operation
6. Maintaining a commitment to professionalism
7. Observing and recording children’s behavior
8. Principles of child development and learning

The education hours must be completed under the sponsorship and guidance of an agency or organization with expertise in early childhood teacher preparation. The agency or organization must provide verification of your education in the form of an official transcript, certificate or letter. These documents must be submitted with your application. There are several ways to meet the 120 hours of professional education requirement, but it is our recommendation that home visitors go through an accredited nonprofit college, preferably for college credit. HIPPIY USA has developed a detailed guide on how to apply to colleges that you can obtain from your program coordinator. There are several reasons for this recommendation that will be presented in bullet points below. If, however, you believe the college credit option is not for you, we still highly recommend that you use a nonprofit career center or community college option.

You will also need to complete First Aid/Pediatric CPR training in order to pass an important part of your CDA site visit.

The benefits of the nonprofit college credit option:

- 1) Financial Aid. Pell grants and other state, federal, college-based and private scholarships can be used to pay for CDA training if you apply to a college as if you are planning to receive an associate's degree. This is a very common practice. There is no penalty for applying to a college if you are seeking a degree in order to qualify for financial aid, unless you sign a document saying otherwise.
- 2) You can use these credits to finish a degree in the future. This is useful if you want to eventually become a program coordinator or continue your education in the future
- 3) Cost effective. The training you need for this program will only cost a few hundred dollars more than the non-credit option, which, when you consider the permanent resume benefits of college credit, is important.
- 4) College courses do not have to be renewed. Credentials like the CDA must be renewed every few years, but college credits do not expire.

480 hours of Professional Experience

Candidates must have at least 480 hours experience with children in a group setting (three to five children) in the last three years. This experience may be professional or volunteer. A CDA Candidate must demonstrate competence in her/his ability to meet the CDA Competency Goals through her/his work in a center-based program. The competency goals are:

1. To establish and maintain a safe, healthy learning environment
2. To advance physical and intellectual competence
3. To support social and emotional development and to provide positive guidance
4. To establish positive and productive relationships with families
5. To ensure a well-run purposeful program responsive to participant needs
6. To maintain a commitment to professionalism.

Professional Portfolio

You will be required to compile and submit a lengthy portfolio six months before applying for your CDA. The exact contents of this portfolio are listed in detail in the CDA Competency Standards book you are required to purchase as part of the application. When completing this portfolio, pay close attention to the detailed requirements outlined in the CDA Competency Standards so as to avoid costly errors. If you feel that you need additional help in creating your portfolio, some colleges offer classes to assist you and some companies sell pre-made organizers. Example: E-How Portfolio Guide

Family Questionnaires

You will have to submit family questionnaires from each of the three to five families you work with during the 480 hours of work experience. The Family Questionnaire and instructions on how to distribute the document are contained within the CDA Competency Standards you purchased during the beginning of this process. The first part of the questionnaire is filled out by the parent and the second part of the questionnaire is filled out by you as you reflect upon the parent's comments. It is generally expected that you collect and reflect upon these questionnaires six months before applying for your CDA.

Step Two: Application

The application stage of obtaining your CDA is broken down into three main sections: identifying a CDA Professional Development Specialist (PD Specialist), securing permission from the organization you are working with for the PD Specialist to conduct a site visit and submitting a completed CDA application to the Council with the required assessment fee.

Identify a CDA Professional Development Specialist

In order to complete your online application, the Council for Professional Recognition requires you to locate, contact and schedule a site visit with a Professional Development Specialist (PD Specialist). You can use a PD Specialist that you know or you can find a local PD Specialist through the Council for Professional Recognition's website.

Please Note that you cannot be evaluated by a PD Specialist who is your:

1. Immediate relative
2. Current direct supervisor
3. Co-worker in the same group or classroom in which you work.

Secure permission from your employer for your Verification Site Visit

The Council requires you to secure the signature of the program director or center supervisor to ensure that the site visit can be held in their facility.

The program supervisor agrees to the following conditions

1. The site visit can be conducted during the facility's business hours
2. The PD Specialist will be allowed to observe the CDA candidate working with children
3. The PD Specialist will be allowed to observe the CDA candidate leading children's activities
4. The site has a quiet place for the PD specialist and CDA candidate to review the results of the verification visit if needed.

Complete the Online Application

Once you have completed all the preparation and other application steps, you will need to complete the online application or the paper application found at the end of your CDA Competency Standards book. In addition to submitting the application, you will also have to pay the assessment fee of $425. The application may be filled out at any time during the year.

When filling out the application, be sure to:

- Read all instructions carefully
- Answer all sections of the application fully
- Not skip any part of the application
- Sign each section of the application where indicated

If there is any missing information or problems with your application, the Council for Professional Recognition will return it to you and you will have 60 days to resubmit it before your application fee is forfeited and you have to start the process over. It is recommended that you complete this application online if possible, as it facilitates faster communication between you and the Council for Professional Recognition. Plus, you can check your application status at anytime. CDA Application instructions: CDA Application Instructions

Scholarships

Some organizations, including the Council for Professional Recognition, provide scholarships for the CDA assessment fee. Some of these organizations can be found on the Council for Professional Recognition's website. As always, be aware that some groups try to steal people's identity through scholarship scams, and never pay for a scholarship application.

Step Three: Demonstrate

Once your application has been reviewed and approved, the Council for Professional Recognition will send a notice informing you that you can schedule your verification visit. This notice will be sent by email if you applied online or by regular mail if you completed a paper application. Once you have received this notification you have six months to complete your verification visit and your CDA exam.

The Verification Visit

Once you have received your "Ready to Schedule" notice from the Council for Professional Recognition, you will need to contact the Professional Development Specialist (PD Specialist) again to arrange your verification visit. Your PD Specialist should also be notified that they need to contact you, but it is best to take the initiative and contact them. You must schedule your verification visit within six months of receiving your approval from the Council for Professional Recognition or forfeit your $425 fee. It is also a good idea to confirm your arrangements with your site supervisor before the verification visit. If you need to reschedule your verification visit, you may do so at any time prior to the visit. You may also switch PD

Specialists, but you must notify the Council for Professional Recognition first. If you miss your scheduled verification visit, you must contact the Council for Professional Recognition and pay an additional fee of $125.

Required Documents for the Verification Visit

- 1) Original, complete, portfolio. Requirements for this portfolio are outlined in CDA Competency Standards book
 - a. Transcripts, certificates and documentation of your 120 hours of professional education
 - b. Family Questionnaires
 - c. Resource Collection
 - d. Six Reflective Statements of Competence
 - e. Professional Philosophy Statement
- 2) CDA Competency Standards book
 - a. The blank Comprehensive Scoring Instrument (at the end of the book)
 - b. Reflective Dialogue worksheet (at the end of the book)

If, for some reason, you do not satisfactorily provide documentation of your 120 hours of professional education or your First Aid/Pediatric CPR demonstration, you will be notified by the Council of what you must do to fix the problem. You must fix any errors with documentation within the six months of your original application approval.

Verification Visit Procedure

Your site visit must consist of three components and be at least three hours in length.

- 1) You must set aside one hour for the PD Specialist to review your portfolio. It needs to be in a quiet place where there will be few distractions
- 2) You must set aside two hours for the PD Specialist to silently observe you working with children. You must coordinate your verification visit with your schedule so that the children you work with will be awake and interacting with you throughout the entire two hour window.
- 3) Finally, you must set aside time with the PD Specialist to reflect upon your strengths, weaknesses and goals.

The PD specialist will use the rubric found in the back of CDA Competency Standards book to evaluate your performance and record his/her observations. Within 48 hours of completing the verification visit, the PD Specialist will report their evaluation to the Council for Professional Recognition. The score will then be combined with your CDA Exam score to determine your eligibility for the CDA certification.

Taking the CDA Exam

Within six months of having your application approved, you must take and pass the CDA Exam. To take the CDA Exam you must register for the test either online or by phone with Pearson

VUE. You will have to take the test at a qualified Pearson VUE test center. (Pearson VUE CDA Exam Pilot Guide)

- 1) You need to show up at least 15 minutes before your scheduled exam time.
- 2) You must bring a valid ID with a signature on it (drivers license or passport should work).
- 3) You must sign the test centers rules and notices.
- 4) You will not be able to have any personal belongings with you.

If you must cancel your CDA Exam ahead of time and reschedule you will be charged $15, if you miss an exam it will cost $65 to schedule a new exam. Exams may not be rescheduled if you are within 24 hours of your test time. If there is severe weather or a disaster, then the exam will be canceled at no penalty.

Test Format

- 1 hour and 45 minute time limit
- 65 multiple choice questions

Step Four: Earn

Your CDA Exam scores and verification visit scores will be combined into a final cumulative score that determines whether or not you will be given the CDA credential. The Council for Professional Recognition will not send you the score, but will allow you to appeal their findings if they do not award you the credential.

Part 3: Guide to the Home Visitor CDA

The Council for Professional Recognition has several guides and web pages dedicated to explaining the CDA requirements and application process. It is a good idea to refer to those frequently, as they will reflect the most up-to-date information. You will also be required to buy the CDA Competency Standards book in order to complete the application. This book details all necessary components and timelines to receive the certification.

The home visitor CDA is available as either an English or bilingual Spanish certification. The bilingual certification has several more requirements than the English certification, so be sure to pay close attention to the CDA Competency Standards booklet. You must work in a bilingual program if you wish to be eligible for the bilingual CDA certification.

Step 1: Meet Eligibility Requirements

120 hours of Professional Education

Candidates must have completed 120 hours of formal child care education within the past five years, with a minimum of ten hours of content in each of the following eight content areas:

1. Plan a safe, healthy environment to invite learning
2. Steps to advance children's physical and intellectual development
3. Positive ways to support children's social and emotional development
4. Strategies to establish productive relationships with families
5. Strategies to manage an effective program operation
6. Maintaining a commitment to professionalism
7. Observing and recording children's behavior
8. Principles of child development and learning

The education hours must be completed under the sponsorship and guidance of an agency or organization with expertise in early childhood teacher preparation. The agency or organization must provide verification of your education in the form of an official transcript, certificate or letter. You need to submit these documents with your application. There are several ways to meet the 120 hours of professional education requirement, but it is our recommendation that home visitors go through an accredited nonprofit college, preferably for college credit. HIPPIY USA has developed a detailed guide on how to apply to colleges that you can obtain from your program coordinator. There are several reasons for this recommendation that will be presented in bullet points below, if, however, you believe the college credit option is not for you, we still highly recommend that you use a nonprofit career center or community college option. Your professional education must be completed within five years of your application.

You will also need to complete First Aid/Pediatric CPR training in order to pass an important part of your CDA site visit.

The benefits of the non-profit college credit option:

- 1) Financial Aid. Pell grants and other state, federal, college-based, and private scholarships can be used to pay for CDA training if you apply to a college as if you are planning to receive an associate's degree. This is a very common practice. There is no penalty for applying to a college if you are seeking a degree in order to qualify for financial aid, unless you sign a document saying otherwise.
- 2) You can use these credits to finish a degree in the future. This is useful if you want to eventually become a program coordinator or continue your education in the future
- 3) Cost effective. The training you need for this program will only cost a few hundred dollars more than the non-credit option, which when you consider the permanent resume benefits of college credit, is important.
- 4) College Courses do not have to be renewed. Credentials like the CDA must be renewed every few years, but college credits do not expire.

480 hours of Professional Experience

Candidates must have at least 480 hours experience within the last five years working with children (birth to five) in a home visiting program. This experience may be professional or volunteer. A CDA candidate must demonstrate competence in her/his ability to meet the CDA Competency Goals through her/his work in a center-based environment. The competency goals are:

1. To establish and maintain a safe, healthy learning environment
2. To advance physical and intellectual competence
3. To support social and emotional development and to provide positive guidance
4. To establish positive and productive relationships with families
5. To ensure a well-run purposeful program responsive to participant needs
6. To maintain a commitment to professionalism.

Step 2: Form The Local Assessment Team (LAT)

You must get permission and support from your supervisor and families, as you will be having individuals come and view your work with children in the home. The exact requirements for the advisor and parent/community representative are outlined in the competency standards.

To form your Local Assessment Team you will need to secure:

- 1) An Advisor
 - a. This person is responsible for observing you work with families and assist you with documenting your skills
- 2) Parent/Community Representative
 - a. This person is responsible for observing you work with families and assist you with documenting your skills

Observation

Within six months of applying, your Advisor and Parent/Community Representative must observe you work with two families.

Observation requirements

- 1) The families must be part of your normal caseload
- 2) Your Advisor and Parent/Community Representative cannot observe you at the same time
- 3) You must provide your Local Assessment Team with the 'Report' booklets that came with your CDA Competency Standards book before scheduling your observations.
- 4) Caseload families must agree to the observations ahead of time and you should explain to them that they will have to sign an observation permission form whenever a Local Assessment Team member accompanies you.

Observation Procedure

Both the Advisor and Parent/Community Representative will

- 1) Have families sign the Observation Permission Form
- 2) Will observe you working with two families where the children are 5 years old or younger
- 3) Observe you for 1.5 consecutive hours for each visit
- 4) Will sign your CDA Home Visitor Assessment Application

In addition, the Advisor will:

- 1) Will record observations in the Advisor Report about your behavior in relation to the 13 Functional Areas as seen in the Appendix
- 2) Will interview you about Functional Area 12: Program Management and Functional Area 13: Professionalism

In addition, the Parent/Community Representative will:

- 1) Record their observation in the Parent/Community Representative Report

Step 3: Prepare Resource File

At least six months before applying for your CDA credential, you must prepare a resource file. A resource file is like a portfolio and its mandatory requirements are outlined in the CDA Competency Standards book. A brief summary of included items is listed below.

Your Professional Resource File includes:

- A 300 word autobiography
- Six statements of competency. Each statement should demonstrate your ability to work with families in the 13 Functional Areas. For help in organizing your Professional Resource File, see the “How to Compile Your Professional Resource File” document at www.ndchildcare.org.
- 17 item resource collection of certificates proving your accomplishments and functioning knowledge of the thirteen functional areas (see appendix). A detailed list can be found in your CDA Competency Standards book. Examples include CPR certification certificate and sample activities you do with children.
- Parent questionnaires. These questionnaires are found in the CDA Competency Standards book and must be returned in sealed envelopes. You will give these to the parent/community representative before the Local Assessment Team meeting.

Step 4: Submit Application

Fill out and mail the paper application to the Council for Professional Recognition. Along with the paper application, you will need to submit your assessment fee and documentation of your professional education. It is best to make a copy for your own records.

- Mail in application, assessment fee and professional education documentation
- Make a copy for your records.

Step 5: Final Observation & LAT Meeting

Once your application has been reviewed and approved by the Council for Professional Recognition, you will have a council representative assigned to you. The council representative will contact you and your Local Assment Team (LAT) and supervisor to schedule two final observations and the LAT meeting.

Observation with council representative

- Have parents sign the observation permission form
- Must occur with two families with children that are five years old or younger
- Each observation will take 1.5 hours

Interview

- The interview will be 1.5 hours
- You will be asked 10 questions from the Council Representative Report

Local Assessment Team (LAT) Meeting

- You will have to locate a local venue to hold the LAT meeting, such as a private room at a local library.
- Each team member is responsible for bringing certain materials
 - The CDA Candidate
 - Professional Resource File
 - Parent/Community Representative
 - Parent/Community Representative Report
 - Parent Questionnaires
 - Advisor
 - Advisor Report
 - Council Representative
 - Council Representative Report

Once everyone has assembled, the council representative will review the collected information and ensure that all needed items are present. The council representative will read the definition of each functional area to the group and each team member will vote on whether the CDA candidate meets competency standards or needs more trainings. After each area has been voted on, each team member must make a recommendation on whether the candidate needs more training or should be awarded the CDA credential. To be awarded the credential the team must vote unanimously to award the credential.

Step 6: Be Awarded the Credential

Once the LAT meeting has concluded, the team's evaluation materials will be collected by the council representative and will be mailed to the Council for Professional Recognition's main office. If the Council for Professional Recognition's review committee finds that all documents and procedures are in good standing, they will accept the Local Assessment Team's recommendation to certify the applicant. If issues arise, the applicant can make appeals.
